

Move in House To Reapportion Its Membership

Committee Engaged in Hearings on the Subject and Expected to Report on Measure That Will Re-allocate the Membership on the Basis of Estimated 1930 Census.

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP).—For the third time in the past seven years, a move has been launched in the House to reapportion its membership among the several states on the basis of their increased population since the 1910 census.

Faced by a number of bills proposing methods for the reapportionment, the House census committee is now engaged in hearings on the subject and is expected to report out a measure that will re-allocate the membership on the basis of the estimated 1930 census.

Although it is stipulated in the Constitution that the reapportionment shall take place with each decennial census, all efforts for its consummation under the 1920 census were defeated, one group of representatives opposing any increase of the House membership while others refused to accept the loss of any state's representation.

The proponents of the reapportionment claim that the increased population between 1910 and 1920 has led to wide discrepancies in the representation of a number of states as authorized under the Constitution.

In the bill now under consideration, drawn by the committee chairman, Representative Fenn of Connecticut, the 1930 census reapportionment would make the following changes in the House membership:

Alabama, loss of one representative; Arizona, gain of one; California, gain of six; Connecticut, gain of one; Florida, gain of one; Indiana, loss of two; Iowa, loss of two; Kansas, loss of one; Kentucky, loss of one; Louisiana, loss of one; Maine, loss of one; Massachusetts, loss of one; Michigan, gain of one; Mississippi, loss of two; Missouri, loss of four; Montana, gain of one; Nebraska, loss of one; New Jersey, gain of two; New Mexico, gain of one; New York, loss of two; North Carolina, gain of one; North Dakota, loss of one; Ohio, gain of three; Oklahoma, gain of one; Pennsylvania, loss of one; Tennessee, loss of one; Texas, gain of two; Vermont, loss of one; Virginia, loss of one; Washington, gain of one.

In the Sixty-seventh Congress in 1921, a bill for a reapportionment on the 1920 census calling for an increase from 435 to 460 members in the house was passed but was re-committed on an amendment to make a further increase to 483 members.

In the last Congress a similar measure to that now before the committee was defeated, 197 to 187.

ABOLISH PRIVATE LIQUOR WAREHOUSES IN VANCOUVER.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 16 (AP).—Abolition of private liquor warehouses in Vancouver and with them, perhaps, the export liquor trade is forecast by an unexpected order from the minister of customs at Ottawa.

The order rules that private warehouses must not receive liquor after February 29, and that supplies now in storage must be moved by June 30.

It has been reported that the Dominion Government is planning to develop legislation to the point where only the provincial government liquor control boards will be able to import liquor, so restrictions of some sort are expected.

If liquor exporters abandon the port of Vancouver it is said they may establish warehouses in Tahiti or adopt the practice of discharging at sea.

The popularity of the beer parlors has been a major factor in enabling the provincial liquor board to abolish its secret service system, which cost the province $300,445 in four years ending September, 1927. Colonel D. McGugan, an official of the board, told the public accounts committee at Victoria.

Colonel McGugan credited much of the improvement in law observance to the abolition of many export liquor warehouses. He considered that enforcement by the provincial police as now practiced was "very successful."

JURY IN HILL TRIAL STILL DELIBERATING

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 16 (AP).—Still apparently unaware of the tragic death of Lee O'Neil Browne, prominent member of the defense counsel, the Harry Hill murder trial jury continued its deliberations today as to the guilt or innocence of the youthful defendant accused of slaying his mother, Mrs. Eliza A. Hill.

The twelve men were unable to break the deadlock that for two days has prevented them from reaching a verdict. The vote was still being reported as 8 to 4 for conviction. Every precaution was taken to keep the news of Browne's death from them. Their dinner was served in the court room last night. It was feared the news might have some effect on the verdict.

The jury reported to Judge Joe A. Davis at 10 a. m. that its members were unable to agree upon a verdict, but he sent it back for further deliberation. The case went to the jury last Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Davis expressed his intention of keeping the jury at work throughout today.

Wilbur Absence Public Rebuke

Col. Simmons Declares Failure of Secretary to Attend Testimonial Dinner to Hear Admiral Plunkett a Rebuke to Admiral.

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—Failure of Secretary of the Navy Curtiss Wilbur to attend a testimonial dinner given Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett was viewed as a public rebuke by Colonel E. A. Simmons, chairman of the banquet committee. The occasion for the dinner was the admiral's retirement from active service on his sixty-fourth birthday.

Colonel Simmons read a letter from Secretary Wilbur in which the latter expressed regret at his inability to attend. But later in a statement to reporters he expressed the opinion that the letter was "but a smoke screen."

"The real reason why he did not come and which he made known to me over the telephone," said the statement, "was fear that his presence at any dinner in honor of Admiral Plunkett, so soon after the world-wide publicity in connection with the admiral's speech at the National Republican Club on January 21, would be misunderstood."

Simmons said Secretary Wilbur had accepted an invitation to the dinner on February 7. He told reporters he regarded Secretary Wilbur's absence as "public rebuke" to the admiral.

Eddie Foy, Actor, Is Dead at 71

Kansas City, Feb. 16 (AP).—Eddie Foy, veteran musical comedy star and vaudeville headliner, died here today.

The end came unexpectedly while the 71 year old actor was on his farewell tour of stages on which he had played for more than half a century.

Heart disease claimed the stage star. Foy died in his room at the Hotel Baltimore at 8:45 a. m., having suffered a heart attack an hour and a half earlier that left him weak but conscious to the end.

At his bedside were Mrs. Foy, Dr. Herbert Tullihill, house physician and the Rev. John Hennessey, a priest, who administered the last rites of the Catholic Church.

Dr. Tullihill pronounced death the result of angina pectoris.

Foy had appeared at the Orpheum Theatre last night in his playlet, "The Fallen Star," in which he was able to recall some of his earlier successes on Broadway.

Outwardly he gave no indication of an impending break, but under the surface his 71 years were telling.

Before time for his turn Tuesday night a friend found him seated on a trunk back stage. He was almost too weak to go before the footlights. "I don't believe I can finish the season," Foy said.

He was conferring with district officials regarding labor troubles at Pittston when three men walked into the office and shot him. Twelve bullets entered the body.

The cabarets, night clubs and theatre restaurants involved, he said, represent property investments totaling $15,000,000.

Notices have been sent to proprietors of 100 places now under temporary injunction to appear in federal court tomorrow to have trial dates set for permanent injunction hearings.

Power Inquiry By Trade Board

Senate Votes Inquiry Into Public Utility Power Companies by Federal Trade Commission Instead of Senate Committee.

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP).—Financial structures of public utility power companies are to be investigated, but the inquiry will be in the hands of the Federal Trade Commission, instead of a Senate committee.

Forced into its first night session, the Senate adopted the inquiry resolution, by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, after accepting 46 to 31 an amendment by Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, transferring the investigation to the trade commission. The vote on the George amendment climaxed a three-day fight over the proposal and broke party lines.

The vote on adoption of the amended resolution was not recorded.

Twenty-eight Republican and eighteen Democrats supported the George amendment, overcoming a combination of eleven Republicans, including the independent group, and twenty Democrats.

Aware of the strength of the opposition to the Walsh plan to have a special Senate committee of five make the inquiry, proponents of the resolution made three unsuccessful attempts to defer a vote until today, but the George supporters insisted upon carrying the question to a decision before adjournment last night. The vote was reached shortly after 9 o'clock, after a session lasting more than nine hours.

The Federal Trade Commission, thus involuntarily infringing upon what has come to be regarded as a prime function of the Senate, is directed by the resolution to hold open hearings at all times and to give the Senate a report every 30 days on its progress.

The commission is empowered to investigate, also campaign contributions to presidential and congressional elections since 1927. Senator Walsh had hoped to have the inquiry include any attempts by the utility companies to influence state or municipal regulatory boards.

NEW EARL IS DESCENDANT OF LITTLE JACK HORNER.

Glastonbury, England, Feb. 16 (AP).—The new Earl of Oxford and Asquith, aged 11, is a descendant on his mother's side of Little Jack Horner who sat in a corner eating pie.

The corner is Wells Manor which the monks of Glastonbury were forced to abandon during the Reformation. The accepted explanation of the nursery rhyme is that Jack Horner was steward of the Abbot of Glastonbury and that by subterfuge he gained possession of the deeds of Wells Manor. The deeds were sent to Henry VIII, concealed for safety in a pie. Jack Horner was the bearer and en route he lifted the crust and extracted this "plum."

Wells Manor is still owned by Horner's direct descendants. Katherine Frances Horner, daughter of Sir John Horner, married Raymond Asquith in 1907. He was killed in action during the war.

WOMEN AT WHITE HOUSE BREAKFAST TABLE

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP).—Women appeared at the White House breakfast table today for the first time since President Coolidge adopted the practice of inviting members of Congress for the early morning meal.

Among 14 members of the House at the breakfast were Representatives Edith Rogers of Massachusetts, and Florence P. Kahn of California, Republicans, and Mary T. Norton, New Jersey, Democrat.

Other guests included Representatives Davenport of New York, Republican, and Jacobstein of New York, Democrat.

PROPOSE RESTORATION OF DIRECT PRIMARY.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP).—A proposal for restoration of the direct primary law to New York state, as recommended by Governor Smith in his annual messages for some years past, was again put before the Legislature today by Minority Leader Maurice Bloch of the Assembly.

Assemblyman Bloch's bill, in addition to calling for return of direct primaries, would set up authority under which unofficial conventions for parties might be held with a view to formulating party platforms and policies and for the transaction of affairs relating to party business.

MELLON DISAGREES WITH LEADERS ON TAX DELAY

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP).—Secretary Mellon does not agree with the congressional leaders who predict that delaying Senate action on the tax reduction bill will jeopardize tax legislation at this session of Congress.

He declared today that he saw no change in the situation and that the amount of reduction will be determined by the March 15 tax returns, which will show the exact revenue of the 1927 income.

Flood Control Bill.

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP).—Placing the entire burden and cost upon the Federal government and carrying an appropriation of $472,000,000, a flood control bill was presented to the House today by its flood control committee.

Liberty Bonds Still a Mystery

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP).—Another session of the Senate Teapot Dome committee today apparently left the question of the Continental Trading Company's Liberty bonds as much a mystery as ever.

Through representatives of New York brokerage firms the committee sought to trace the profits of the Continental, part of which, it is charged, went to Albert H. Fall, after the lease of Teapot Dome. Little progress was made.

The testimony of the two witnesses heard, Joseph F. McMahon, of Potter and Company, and James Bernieri, of Childs and Company, dealt with sales of bonds, some of which finally have been traced by committee investigators to the Republican national campaign fund after the 1920 election, to which Harry F. Sinclair contributed $75,000.

A check by the committee with Bernieri developed that at least $26,000 of $75,000 in bonds delivered by Will H. Hays, then Republican national chairman, to the Empire Trust Company were Continental bonds. A check for them was made out to the order of T. Coleman du Pont, chairman of the Empire's board, to whom Hays delivered them. It was testified, the final amount being $74,118.75.

N. J. Anti-Saloon Head Guilty

Newark, N. J., Feb. 16 (AP).—The Rev. Dr. Marva S. Poulson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, today was found guilty of charges of libelling three Newark judges.

A fine of $500 was imposed upon Dr. Poulson. The jury was out 49 minutes.

Dr. Poulson is charged with transmitting libellous statements against three Newark judges, Common Pleas Judge Van Riper and Municipal Judges Albano and Boettner.

In a statement published in Newark newspapers last November, he linked their names with charges of vice and lawlessness in the city.

Yesterday's session brought serious reverses for the defense when Wilbur A. Heisler, Dr. Poulson's counsel, failed to fulfill his promise that he would prove Judge Van Riper had defended persons charged with liquor law violations after his appointment to the bench.

The court also refused to permit the defendant to testify as to his motive in making the allegedly libellous statement, and ruled that the truth alone would constitute a complete defense.

Heisler said he would offer no evidence to connect the three judges personally with Dr. Poulson's charges of vice. Their fault, he said, lay only in their failure as officials to check conditions Dr. Poulson charged.

Governor to Sign Appropriations

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP).—Governor Smith today will sign the annual appropriation bill for the support of the state government, passed by the Legislature after bitter debates in both houses.

In view of the fact that the only changes made in the bill by the Legislature were reductions in certain appropriations recommended by the Governor, the executive declared he saw no reason for lengthy memoranda regarding it, controversial items having been thoroughly thrashed out in a series of messages and statements for the past two weeks.

Any statement now, he believed, would merely be a repetition of previous ones.

"The cuts have been made," the Governor declared, "and the people will eventually see where the Republican leaders made their mistake. I shall take the bill as it was sent to me yesterday afternoon."

SECRETARY OF HINDOO KOOSH GROTTO SURRENDERS

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 16 (AP).—David G. Shearer, missing secretary of Hindoo Koosh Grotto, wanted on two charges, one of theft of $10,500 from the grotto, and the other of arson, walked into the police station early today and surrendered.

Shearer admitted having been in California, but said that when he heard of the warrant issued for him he returned. The arson charge was laid by the provincial fire marshal's department after investigation of a mysterious fire which broke out in the grotto quarters in the grand opera house buildings.

Shearer disappeared the day after he had been questioned by the fire marshal. His abandoned automobile was found at Hamilton Bay. Grotto and personal papers later were discovered floating in the bay. A note intimated suicide.

New Discovery By Dr. Coolidge

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—The possibility of construction of apparatus which will produce the Beta and Gamma rays of radium is held forth by Dr. W. D. Coolidge, assistant director of the research laboratory of the General Electric Company, in announcing development of a new super power cathode ray tube operating on 500,000 volts. The previous limit of power had been 300,000 volts.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers where Dr. Coolidge received the Edison medal for his contributions to incandescent lighting and the X-ray.

The new tube is a three-in-one arrangement of the 500,000 volt cathode ray tube, a cascade arrangement expels electrons at the rate of 175,000 miles a second, which is the fastest man-made speed ever attained. It is 300,000 times faster than the speed of a bullet shot from a standard army rifle.

"This opens a vista of alluring scientific possibilities," said Dr. Coolidge in explaining the multi-sectional principle upon which the new tube is built. "It has tantalized us for years to think that we couldn't produce in the laboratory just as high speed electrons as the highest velocity Beta rays of radium and just as penetrating radiations as the shortest wave length Gamma rays from radium. According to Sir Ernest Rutherford we need only a little more than twice the voltage which we have already employed to produce X-rays as penetrating as the most penetrating Gamma rays from radium and about three million volts to produce as high speed Beta rays."

TWO RACING MACHINES OUT TO BREAK RECORD.

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP).—With one titanic rival eliminated from officially recognized competition because it did not conform mechanically to regulations of the American Automobile Association, two other racing machines today were tuning up for an attempt to better the world's speed record.

J. M. White, Philadelphia, yesterday was refused official sanction for a trial against the 203.7 miles per hour gait set up last year by Major H. O. D. Segrave of England. The governing body barred the machine, A. H. Means, secretary of the A. A. A., said, because it was not equipped with a clutch, differential or reverse gear.

Withdrawal of the White entry left the machines of Frank Lockhart, Indianapolis, and Malcolm Campbell, London, to essay new records during the present program of speed events on the beach. They have until next Wednesday to make their efforts.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP).—Michael (Whitney) Watts, former bartender and alleged bootlegger, captured after an intensive police search of many hours, confessed today that he had stabbed Marie Williams to death in her apartment last night. Assistant District Attorney Delaney announced that Watts admitted the slaying with the declaration that he went to Miss Williams' room "to give her a good cutting" because she had jilted him.

The victim, aged 29, was employed as a waitress in a South End night club. She came here two years ago from Hartford, Conn., where her mother, Mrs. Patrick P. O'Reilly, now resides.

Bullet Wound Killed Carver

Well Known Taxi Driver Who Accidentally Shot Himself at His Home on Andrew Street Died Wednesday Night at Benedictine Hospital.

Walter Carver, the well known taxi driver, who accidentally shot himself through the leg at his home, 110 Andrew street, on Tuesday morning, died at about 9 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Benedictine Hospital, where he was taken after the shooting. He is survived by his wife and one son, Donald, three brothers and three sisters, all of whom reside in Asheville, North Carolina.

According to the story Carver told Sergeant Charles Philney of the Kingston Police Department, he had returned home about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning and decided to unload his revolver, a .32 caliber, as he did not want to have a loaded gun in the house on account of his young son. In starting to unload the revolver the weapon suddenly discharged. The bullet entered the right side, passing completely through the body. The bullet just missed the heart but punctured the lung.

Funeral arrangements will be made later. The body was turned over to the undertaking firm of Jensen & Perry of lower Broadway.

Real Estate Library Here

The regular monthly meeting of the members of the Kingston Real Estate Board was held Wednesday evening at the office of the Chamber of Commerce on Broadway. Among the things discussed was the proposition of starting a real estate library which would be available to members of the Association both active and associate. The proposition was endorsed and the library will be started with books treating on real estate subjects. From time to time this library will be added to and will be available to members of the board at the office of the secretary, Frank S. Hyatt.

The matter of a closer cooperation between the Real Estate Board and the Chamber of Commerce was talked over and ways and means of closer working together were discussed, particularly in relation to activities and treating of inquiries which come before the Chamber of Commerce from those desiring to locate business or factories in Kingston as well as from those who desire to come to Kingston to make the city their future home.

A general discussion on real estate matters followed and routine business was transacted. Members of the association reported a fairly good business thus far this year.

Men Rushed to Rescue.

The railroad men dropped their work and rushed to the scene. In the meantime the two yardmen, in the room made by the descending coal, did not hear the cries of the boy as he was buried under the falling coal.

Started Digging Boy Out.

It was impossible to close the hopper doors of the coal car, once they were opened, and the volunteer rescuers leaped to the top of the car and with shovels began to dig frantically, throwing the coal in all directions.

As they worked they could hear the muffled calls of the imprisoned lad, but soon they ceased and it was feared that he had been suffocated.

Call Doctor and Ambulance.

One of the men who had witnessed the disappearance of the boy rushed into the coal office and notified the yard, and Mr. Watts immediately telephoned Dr. Frank Eastman and called for the city ambulance.

Boy's Head Uncovered.

By this time fully fifteen men, armed with shovels had attacked the coal that buried the boy and within a short time his head was uncovered. Two men immediately leaped down and supported the boy, who implored the men to hold him fast. While the two men were holding him up the other shovelers crawled under the car and attacked the pile of coal and soon the lad's legs were uncovered and from then on it was but a matter of a few minutes when he was finally released from his perilous position.

Hung Halfway Between.

The boy, when his body was finally uncovered, lay halfway between the floor of the car and the hopper doors. He had been wedged in so tightly that his body was held in an upright position. As soon as his arms were freed from the embrace of the coal he began to use his hands in shoving the coal away from his body.

Imprisoned 20 Minutes.

The boy was imprisoned by the coal for fully twenty minutes before he was released. As he was helped from the car by the volunteer rescuers he was examined by Dr. Eastman, who had responded promptly to the telephone call, and was found apparently unhurt.

"How do you feel now?" asked the doctor of the boy.

"I feel all right," replied the lad.

"Where do you live?"

"Chambers street."

"All right," said Dr. Eastman. "I'll take you home; follow me, my car is just outside."

Dr. Eastman then turned and walked to his car, followed by the boy, but before the lad got to the doctor's car he found his bicycle leaning against the fence and jumping on it he pedaled away amid the cheers of the large crowd that had gathered at the scene.

Blind from the top of his head to the tips of his feet the boy pedaled his bicycle up the street like mad and turned the corner into Hasbrouck avenue at a rapid pace. That was the last seen of him.

Ambulance Not Needed.

The ambulance in charge of Policemen Simon Wood and John Harren was not needed. As they drove into the coal yard asking where the boy was, Mr. Watts waved his hand in the direction of Hasbrouck avenue, saying "that was him you passed; he was riding his bicycle up the street like mad."

Jury Gets Nelson Pen Case.

Hackensack, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP).—The Ridgewood "poison pen" case against Miss Sarah B. Nowell, 21-year-old bank clerk, was given to the jury by Judge Seufert at noon today with a charge which concluded with the words "the indictment charges that she delivered and sent the letters. No testimony has been offered that this was so."

Boy Under 15 Tons of Coal Rescued Unhurt

Was on Top of Coal Car Being Unloaded and Drops Into Hopper Under Deluge of Coal—Call for Aid Answered by Volunteer Shovelers—Rescued Unharm and Rides Away on Bicycle.

Buried under fifteen tons of coal, a young boy had a narrow escape from death at the coal yard of Watts & Tammany on the Strand about 10:30 o'clock this morning. The boy, after being rescued, rode away on his bicycle without his name being ascertained. It is thought that his last name was Kluszeki and that he resides at 82 Chambers street.

This morning a coal car loaded with chestnut coal was placed over the elevator pit of the coal packers and Frank Flanagan and John Reinhardt, two of the yardmen, were assigned the job of unloading it. The coal car was equipped with hopper doors located in the center of the car.

Boy on Top of Car.

While the two men were busy unloading the hopper doors of the coal car the boy climbed up on top of the car without the men knowing it. As the hopper doors unlocked the coal began to shoot through, dropping into the elevator pit.

As the deluge of coal poured through the hopper doors the boy was carried with it. As he felt himself falling with the coal he gave an agonized call for help which was heard by some employees of the Ulster and Delaware railroad, working nearby.

Men Rushed to Rescue.

The railroad men dropped their work and rushed to the scene. In the meantime the two yardmen, in the room made by the descending coal, did not hear the cries of the boy as he was buried under the falling coal.

No More Orders, Declares Hewitt

Senator Hewitt serves notice on Governor That dispublicans are through taking orders from the Executive Chamber.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP).—Senator Charles J. Hewitt, chairman of the Senate finance committee, during debate Wednesday on the annual appropriation bill, served notice on Governor Smith that the Republican members of the Legislature were "done taking orders from the executive chamber on the second floor."

Turning to Senator Bernard Downington, minority leader, regarded as spokesman for the Governor in the upper house, the finance chairman declared:

"There always will come a time when one man can't order everybody, and that time has come here now."

After an unsuccessful, and wholly unexpected attempt to have the main appropriation bill referred back to the finance committee so that body "might see the light," and restore cuts made in appropriations recommended by the Governor, Senator Downington turned his attention to specific cuts. The first was reduction of an appropriation requested for the executive budget bureau from $105,000 to $75,000.

"What was the reason for that?" he asked.

"When a Democratic governor sends a bill to a Republican legislature," replied Senator Hewitt, "it must be realized that there will be some difference of opinion. This bill, prepared by the Governor and his executive budget director, came to us on January 16, and we found many earmarks through it."

"We tried to erase a few of them, and did, but immediately from the second floor there began to come rumblings. These soon grew to a roar, and that has been going on ever since."

"I was hoping the senator from the 14th would not bring up this particular item," began Senator Hewitt.

Senator Downington leaped to his feet. "Why not?" he yelled.

"I'll tell you why not," continued the finance chairman.

"When the preliminary hearings were held on this budget, there was no suggestion, there was no mention or hint of this item. When the Governor's budget came to us, we tried to locate the director of the budget (Joseph H. Wilson), but we found that he had gone to Florida."

"We got an order from the second floor to put the budget bureau item back in and let it stay there. Well, we didn't obey."

The debaters by this time were figuratively taking off their coats to start a real battle. The situation was growing more tense than during any previous controversy on the Senate floor this year. Suddenly and unexpectedly a peace-maker appeared.

He was Senator George R. Fearon, Onondaga county Republican—erstwhile contender for the majority leadership—who by his action today qualified as the champion "whopper story" teller of the legislature.

"I hate to see you gentlemen, friends always, arguing like this," began the central New Yorker, in a loud, clear voice, "but I know just what happened. For the last two or three years I have had great sympathy with George Graves, the Governor's secretary. He has had to climb the stairs many nights with messages from the Governor when the elevators were not running. But George is getting older and more decrepit."

We tried to find some way to lighten his burden.

"For a time we tried a wheelbarrow, in which he could bring the messages to this house and the assembly, but the old wheelbarrow became overloaded, and we got together and decided to do this thing in a big broad way. So we arranged for the installation of a pneumatic tube service from the executive chamber to the desk in this house. According to Mr. Jones, one-time state architect, but now deceased, the estimated cost of that system would be the exact difference between these two items of $105,000 and $75,000. George and I have put this in the bill, the Governor was not consulted, and that's the story."

"That's a full, clear, lucid explanation," commented Senator Downington, meanwhile thumbing more pages of the thick appropriation bill, and then he turned to the next item. The executive budget bureau cut was beyond debate.

International Dancers stress importance of wind condition

"As can readily be realized, wind and physical condition are of the utmost importance to ballroom dancers. Our work is hard and taxes the wind to the utmost. We both have smoked Lucky Strikes for a number of years and can safely say that these cigarettes in addition to furnishing us much pleasure in our hours of relaxation, have never affected our wind or physical fitness in any way."

Really Was Miss Smith

A man was talking to a girl in Harvard square when his wife unexpectedly came along. He said good-by to the girl as soon as possible and walked along with his wife.

"Well, begin," said she. "Who's your playmate? Why didn't you introduce me? Sorry to interrupt! What's her name?"

"Well," said the husband, "if you want to know, her name is Smith, but of course I couldn't introduce 'Miss Smith' to you and have you feel like giving us the merry ha ha and perhaps asking her what her real name was."

And the girl was a stenographer in the office where he worked, and her real name was Smith.—Boston Globe.

Burr's Great Fascination

When Aaron Burr returned to America from Europe in his later years, his outlook was drab indeed. His wife was dead; his only daughter had been lost at sea; his fortune was gone and he was an outcast. Facing such misfortune, it seems incredible that he could engage in a lively courtship, yet when he was seventy-eight he showed he still had great powers of fascination. In a whirlwind courtship he won the heart, hand and fortune of a wealthy widow, Mme. Jumel. He spent a great deal of the elderly woman's money and they had not been married long when she left him.

Plan Air-Mail Service

The Royal Dutch Air Mail Navigation company has presented the Netherlands government with plans for the establishment of a regular air-mail service to the Dutch East Indies. The intention is to conduct the service with eight machines, and one departure weekly. It is estimated that a load of 800 kilograms, comprising some seventy-five letters to the kilo, at a surcharge of 20 cents a letter would yield a revenue of some $12,500, which should produce a profit over expenses.

Chairman Morris Visits Coolidge

Washington, Feb. 16 (P).—George K. Morris, chairman of the New York Republican committee, conferred with President Coolidge at the White House today but declined to comment on the nature of the conference.

He said that national politics was not discussed. He declared there had been some discussion of New York state politics, but declined to say what he had asked the President, or what views Mr. Coolidge had expressed, if any.

Published reports had said that Morris made the trip to Washington especially to ascertain for himself and for Charles D. Hilles, national committee chairman for New York, the President's views on their continued support of Mr. Coolidge for the Republican nomination.

"That's all newspaper talk," was all that Morris would say.

HICKMAN APPEAL FILED IN SUPERIOR COURT

Los Angeles, Feb. 16 (P).—Written notice of an appeal to the state Supreme court of the death sentence pronounced on William Edward Hickman for the kidnapping and slaying of Marian Parker was filed in superior court today. Hickman's attorneys acted at the opening of the second day of the youth's trial with Welby Hunt, 16, on charges of murdering C. Ivy Toms in an attempted drug store holdup.

The appeal, defense attorneys announced, will be based on the contention that the state's new law governing insanity defenses is unconstitutional.

Mrs. Mundy and Mrs. Mayer motored to Kingston on Tuesday.

It is reported that New York city will commence work on the Pine Hill sewer some time next month. This will not only furnish employment for all who wish to work but will be one of the greatest improvements Pine Hill has ever known.

ATWOOD.

Atwood, Feb. 16.—The supper which was to have been held in the school house Friday night at 6:30, will be postponed until further notice on account of the death of George Janson and the serious illness of other members.

Services in the M. E. Church will be held next Sunday at 2:30. The subject for the Rev. Smith's sermon will be "Blessed are the Needy." The choir will sing a special number at 3:20. The Sunday school will convene with Elmer Krom, superintendent, in charge. At the close of this period the pastor will give a 10 minute object lesson for the children, "Five Minutes With the Yest." Every one welcome.

Make Birds Fly Faster

When some species of birds migrate, the males reach their destination a day or more before the females, due perhaps to slightly greater wingspread or the former's wings.

Horticultural NEWS

TO PRUNE TREES DURING WINTER

Orchards may be pruned any time during winter or early spring, according to the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y. Although in some winters the winds may dry back, it is seldom serious.

In pruning apple trees, the aim should be to get rid of old and weak wood. To do this, cut only such large branches as interfere with other branches, and thin the smaller branches all over the tree, particularly on the outside. Pruning the small branches aids the fruit spurs and thus increases the size and quality of fruit.

Pear trees, particularly young pear trees, should be pruned lightly. Since an epidemic of blight may seriously damage a pear tree and shorten its life, as much fruit as possible should be obtained early in the life of the orchard. Experiments at the state college show that light pruning results in early development with quick commercial returns. Less blight is also encountered where the pruning is light. In view of this it seems best to give pear trees light pruning the first ten years, rather than heavy cutting back as is sometimes practiced. Sufficient pruning to avoid rubbing limbs and weak crotches is desirable, however. A careful watch should be kept also for blighted branches and these should be removed.

After the trees are well in bearing, such varieties as Kieffer and Anjou are benefited by heavier pruning. Anjou, which frequently fails to set fruit, may often produce a crop in this way; the size of Kieffers may also be improved by heavier pruning. The trees should be kept reasonably low and moderately open by sufficient cutting back to laterals in the top and around the outer margin. Large main limbs should not ordinarily be cut out unless they are blighted.

Columbian Raspberries Pruned Much Like Black

Columbian raspberries are pruned much the same as black raspberries. When the new shoots are about 18 inches high they should be topped so that they will branch. In some sections it is the practice to wait until these new shoots have reached the height of 8 feet and then cut them back to 18 inches, but there is no necessity of waiting until they reach that height. By waiting the plant is merely divaluated that much more, says the Rural New Yorker. It is better to do the tipping when the plants have reached the desired height. Then the following spring the laterals on the canes that are left for fruiting should be shortened to about 8 to 12 inches.

New canes are rooted along in August when the tips of the shoots have a characteristic "snaky" look, due to the fact that there are very few leaves at the tips. In such these tips will catch and root, but in cultivated soil it is customary to make a small hole in the ground and stick them into it, or else to throw a clod of dirt on them in order to hold them in place.

It Is Seldom Advisable to Grow Three Fruits

In the case of the commercial fruit grower, dependent upon long-distance shipment, it is seldom advisable to grow more than one kind of fruit, certainly not more than two or three kinds. This is true because each fruit requires special equipment and more or less distinct technique in the methods employed in its culture. Again, fruit production is tending toward specialization, in which a fruit is chosen and grown because of its adaptation to a particular locality, and in which the grower himself lends his best effort to the production of a type that will meet competition and satisfy the demands of a discriminating trade.

Horticultural Facts

The first step in pruning is the removal of all dead, injured or diseased canes.

It is always best to buy one-year-old plants from a reliable nursery. This is usually more satisfactory than for a person to propagate his own plants.

Raspberries, both red and the black caps, respond very quickly to the use of fertilizer. If the soil in which the new plants are put out is not rich, one should apply a good dressing of poultry manure or some well rotted barnyard manure.

The peach and cherry tree crown borer has become increasingly abundant in the orchards during the past few years.

The Frontier strawberry is very much liked at the present time. Big Joe, Glen Mary, Stevens and Dunsley are also worth considering.

Pruning of currants and gooseberries before the first of April is recommended by the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, New Brunswick.

He is a member of the Union Army and has been in the service for many years.

He came to America as a sailor. When the vessel he was on reached here the 16-year-old sailor was ill with a fever and was taken to a hospital in New York. After being discharged from the hospital he worked at the home of a stock broker's wife but soon had to leave his job because people kept asking him why he did not enlist in the army. Those who brought in volunteers got $25 bounty and plenty were willing to stay at home and collect the bounties while others had to do the work.

Joins Union Army Here.

The Britisher joined the Union Army in Kingston after much persuasion. Two Connecticut scalawags received $500 for getting him to sign with the army and he was allowed $100 of the sum paid. Before coming to this city to enlist, Blake was cautioned not to enlist in Connecticut where the bounties were not very large. The two men took him to Massachusetts where bounties of $200 were paid for volunteers but in Springfield only $100 was obtainable so the two took him to Albany and thence to Kingston where the more desirable sum was received.

Kingston, during the drafts, was a center for the activities of substitute brokers. Joseph Pulitzer, later owner of the New York World, enlisted here during the draft of 1863, and probably joined the army as a substitute for someone who preferred to remain home and collect bounties. During this draft, sums were paid by the state and county which enabled successful solicitors to receive worthwhile pay for their efforts.

Blake bears wounds on his leg received at the battle of Petersburg. He delights in telling how the Union soldiers routed the "Rebs." He says

GREEN SEES MENACE IN USE OF INJUNCTIONS.

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Frequent use of injunctions in labor disputes constitutes a menace to the domestic tranquility of the United States, William Green, president of American Federation of Labor, declared Wednesday before the House Judiciary committee.

He spoke in favor of the La Guardia and Schafer bills which would place certain restrictions on federal courts in issuing such injunctions. These measures are similar to the Shipstead bill now before a Senate committee.

"We are pleading for a restoration of confidence in the judicial branch of our government," Green said, adding that his organization was appearing before Congress to exercise its constitutional right to petition for relief from grievances.

Parris Island was originally called "Port Royal Island." Colonel Parris who was for many years public treasurer of South Carolina and otherwise conspicuous in the early history of the province, died March 10, 1736, and in the course of time the island came to be called "Parris Island," while its former name, "Port Royal," was applied to the larger island to the north thereof.

Stops that Tough Hang-On Cough That Racks Your Whole Body

For ordinary coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do.

But when you want to throw out of your system one of those obstinate, old timers, that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless nights and days of torment then you've got to have a REAL cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion for the harder and tougher and tighter they come the more for Broncholine gets in knocking them out.

Broncholine isn't a cheap cough conquerer, mind you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the raw sore membrane.

Often three or four doses bring blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn, die-hard cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Broncholine Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Broncholine.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask McBride's Drug Stores or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion.

RAILROAD AND CORNELL STUDY MILK PROBLEM

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 16.—A thorough investigation of the problem of furnishing the ever-increasing population of the New York metropolitan district with an abundant and economical supply of pure milk has been started by the Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the New York Central Railroad. The investigation is in charge of Professor H. A. Ross of the department of agricultural economics and farm management. For a number of years he has been studying the field of milk marketing in both the New York and Chicago districts. Co-operating with him, is the agricultural relations department of the New York Central Railroad, headed by E. H. Anderson.

This alliance of a university and a railroad is a result of the difficulties which arise when a great city begins to outgrow its milk-producing territory. Each year, an additional supply of 200,000 quarts of milk daily, or the production of approximately 20,000 cows, is required to take care of the increased needs of the New York metropolitan area. Although this market draws milk regularly from six states and Canada, the amount available in November and December during the last two or three years has barely been adequate to meet the demand. The rapid growth of the city and the increasing per-capita use of milk and cream point to a need of still greater quantities in the future.

The aim of the investigation just launched is stated as an effort to determine where and how this additional supply can be obtained most economically, without sacrificing any of the high quality for which New York city milk is noted.

To Produce More... Specific studies are being made to determine the possibilities of dairymen increasing their present production of milk, and of changing time of the seasonal supplies so as to avoid an early winter shortage. In addition, the probability of general farms going into dairying will be considered, as well as the practicability of still further extension of the already wide limits of the milk-producing district. Two years will be required to complete the study, but it is announced that results will be made public as rapidly as they are obtained. The experiment station says it aims to bring about a development of the territory along sound economic lines.

Art of Weaving Scarfs Revived

Arrow Scarfs. With Indian Arrow-head as the Basis for All Figures. Once Enjoyed Immense Popularity Among Indians of Quebec.

Montreal, Feb. 15 (AP).—An art thought to have been perfected by a people who once passed through New England in the course of their migrations has been preserved for posterity and will be carried on in the Province of Quebec. The art is the very intricate one of weaving the colorful "ceinture fleches," or narrow scarf, and through the efforts of E. Z. Massicotte, president of the Province of Quebec Folklore Society, the weaving will be revived.

The scarfs once enjoyed an immense popularity among the Indians both as a medium of personal adornment, and also as a very serviceable garment for winter wear. In recent years they have come to be prized by white men, particularly those who engage in winter sports. There is but a single motif in their patterns although it permits of a variety of designs and any number of bright color combinations. The Indian arrowhead is the basis for all figures and from this element the scarfs take their name.

There are few persons left who still practice the old art, but one of these, an aged habitant woman, Mr. Massicotte brought to a Montreal convent where she began to teach the nuns the secrets of the fabrication of the scarf and they in turn will pass the art on to the wives of the habitants far back in the woods and outposts of Quebec, thus insuring the future of the art.

The scarfs are woven of wool entirely by hand and their manufacture is a slow and delicate process. In dimensions they vary with the taste of the customer, but a common size is seven inches wide and 45 inches long, to which is added the yards of fringe that decorate the ends. An unusually large amount of wool is needed for each scarf and this is largely responsible for the prices they bring today. It is said that a specimen of the art cannot be produced today for much less than $65 or $70. The old ones, however, which are prized as heirlooms by the few who possess them are quoted occasionally and collectors have paid several hundred dollars at times for a single scarf.

They are worn knotted about the waist or over the shoulder and with their long gayly colored fringe add considerably to winter sports costume. It has been held by some students of Canadiana that the "ceinture fleches" originated with the Indians but Mr. Massicotte explains that this cannot be so for the Indians did not raise wool. He believes that the weaving was first done in Acadia, and was brought to the Province of Quebec by exiled Acadians.

These exiles came to Quebec after living for a short time in New England. The oldest scarf of which Mr. Massicotte has a complete record is 90 years old but there are several in existence whose ages are fixed at 130 years. One of the scarfs has been found in the Maritime Provinces, the original home of the Acadians.

The first of them produced in Quebec was woven in the little village of St. Jacques l' Achigan and from that time on the district of l' Assomption, in Montcalm county, has retained the secret.

Nothing Suffices to Break Punning Habit

In the kingdom of Rougarla a law against punning has been passed. Citizens in that country may play upon horses, roulette, keno, pianos or even saxophones, but they must not play upon words.

Abube-Asap was the first man condemned under the new law. Convicted of first-degree punning he was sentenced to be hanged.

However, on the night before the morning set for the execution the warden entered the cell of Abube-Asap bringing good news.

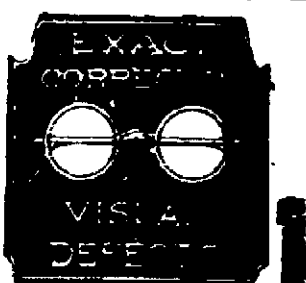

"Congratulations, Abube-Asap!" he said. "The king has signed your pardon. You are a notorious punster, the worst in all Rougarla. However, the king has decided to give you another chance on condition that you swear never to pun again! What do you say to that?"

"No noose is good news!" said Abube-Asap.

So the pardon was withdrawn and Abube-Asap was hanged. — Burly Stories.

Rinso

The Granulated soap

Read this Smith Ave. Woman's letter:

"I certainly am glad my grocer got me to try Rinso!
"Why, with Rinso you don't have to do the slightest bit of hard rubbing—all the dirt soaks right out in the rich, safe suds. Even boiling isn't necessary, the clothes always turn out so snowy and new-looking.
"Besides, with Rinso I don't have to keep my hands in the hot suds so they never get red! It certainly is a blessing!
"I use Rinso for all my cleaning powders, floors, linoleum, woodwork, etc. It's easier—and there's no grit in it."

MRS. HETTIE WEEKS,
45 Smith Ave.,
Kingston, N. Y.

Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this one.

For whiter clothes and "no-work" washdays... try this safe soak-and-rinse way

IMAGINE! No scrubbing, no boiling—for the whitest week's wash you ever saw! Dirt and stains float right off after soaking in Rinso's rich, safe suds.

In hard water or soft, this new kind of soap soaks the most soiled things spotless. Why, even grimy cuffs and edges become snowy with little or no rubbing! And Rinso whitens without boiling—scrubbing, too!

Saves clothes and hands

No longer need heavy washes mean coarse, old-looking hands. Rinso saves the hands—for they're in hot suds so much less. Saves the clothes, too. They aren't scrubbed threadbare.

Millions know it's safe. Contains nothing to harm the finest cottons or linens. Try it. It's all you need on washday—no bar soaps, chips or powders. Just Rinso!

You get your full money's worth when you buy Rinso, the granulated soap—it's so compact. Just feel how weighty the package is.

Marvelous in washers

Rinso brings clothes from the washer whiter than ever. More than 32,000 demonstrators use it to show their machines at their best. And the makers of 32 leading washers urge Rinso for safety.

Get the BIG package. For economy and best results follow the easy directions.

"What a difference/"

That's what you'll say when you compare GOOD LUCK with ordinary margarines

Just as there is a decided difference in coffee, canned goods, meats and other foodstuffs, so there is a difference in margarines.

And, until you have tasted Jelke GOOD LUCK, you can't possibly know how good a margarine can be. For GOOD LUCK has identically the same flavor as the most expensive spreads-for-bread, even though it sells for about half their price.

This real spread-for-bread flavor is the result of more than forty years' experience and the use of rich, nutritious meat products instead of the cheaper vegetable oils used in making ordinary margarines.

Try GOOD LUCK... on your table and in cooking... and see how very much better it is.

Y's Men's Club
Met and Dined

The weekly meeting of the Y's Men's Club was held Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. following the last supper ever served to the organization. It was a "Dinner Moore Special" prepared by the efficient commissary department. At the meeting, the Y. M. C. A. Executive Board, Mr. Smith thanked the members for their support at the Scout Rally held in the armory Saturday, February 11. Mr. Smith also asked for aid for the "Lumberjacks" to be held in Kingston during the second week in May.

The question of the formation of an organization of women was urged by President Gifford. It was reported that several more windows at the Ramsey Lodge, Glenelg, have been sold and the campaign for "bricks" is on. All Y's Men are to report at the Rev. Withy's special sermon in Trinity M. E. Church Sunday, February 19. There were 24 Y's Men present at the meeting.

FIRST MINISTER HERE
ARRIVED 208 YEARS AGO.

February 16, 1650, is the date of the arrival of the Rev. Hermanus Bion, who became the first minister in the settlement of Esopus. After meeting the church members and agreeing to accept their call to this church, he returned to Holland for ordination, and on September 5 he took up the duties of minister in Wilkewick. The petition addressed to the West India Company for a minister, dated at Esopus August 17, 1659, was signed, first by Jacob Jansen Stoll (who was killed by Indians on the attack on the village in September), followed by Thomas Chambers, Jurfaen Westfall and William Jansen Stoll (who was killed in second Indian War June, 1663).

CLEVER ONE-ACT PLAYS
BY BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB

When it comes to wholesome fun and clever entertainment it takes the Y. W. girls, especially the members of The Business Girls' Club, to furnish as happy an evening as one could enjoy anywhere in town. On Wednesday night, instead of their usual supper, The Business Girls' Club presented two one-act plays just bubbling over with humor which in a kindly way pictured human nature "as was" and "as is."

The coach for these clever plays was Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler. Before the plays and during the intermission there were some rather impromptu orchestral selections by "The Happiness Boys' Sisters." Wherever the girls managed to find their costumes and properties—an entertainment in themselves—only they know.

The first play was entitled "Joint Owners in Spain," by Alice Brown, and was the story of the two inmates in an Old Ladies' Home that had used up the endurance of all other room-mates, but put together, worked out a really harmonious but highly amusing manner of setting on together. Ruth Bell as Mrs. Blair, Matilda Martin as Miss Dyer, Hilda Parker as Mrs. Mullerton and Ethel Kline as Mrs. Mitchell were all very good with a little emphasis on Mrs. Blair and Miss Dyer, the two insurgents.

Between the plays, Mrs. Lewis, in spite of the fact that she had just turned from California to find her house burned to the ground, put on two screamingly funny and clever entire acts, that had for audience in gales of merriment.

"The Neighbors," by Zona Gale, was a little more elaborate than the first play as to number of characters, just as amusing and just as full of kindly wisdom. There was a near-tragedy when the little boy coming to Mrs. Cary Ellsworth's and the whom the neighbors had tried to make ready in their several ways did not come, and a romance between seared, bread-crisped later and pretty Lucy who became engaged right before everybody's eyes just before the curtains were finally drawn. And again there were amusing properties. The entire cast was good, including Mrs. Jennie Snider as "Grandma," Eva Shaw as "Miss Abbot," Ethel Satterman as "Mrs. Williams," Wilma Van Vleet as "Peter," Mary Howard as "Lucy," Jessie Goodsell as "Miss Elmina Morgan," Stella Ketterson as "Miss Trist," and Helen Gronemeyer as "Miss Cary Ellsworth."

American Girls Make Good in Opera

MARY LEWIS

GRACE MOORE

MARION TALLY

By SHIRLEY KIRKE
(International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent)

IT IS NOT now as it hath been of yore—three native-born American girls have plowed through handicaps and prejudices and have emerged triumphant as grand opera prima donnas. And, what's more important, they've done away with, for all time, the ancient barriers that were seemingly erected against Yankee singers.

Marion Tally, the bright-eyed Kansas phenomenon, bears the distinction of being the first of the trio to literally "crash the gate" and get away with it. Her success was a striking achievement.

Next came Mary Lewis, and, finally, Grace Moore.

They rushed in where angels had feared to tread. It took courage and persistence—it took faith and hope and lots of fight—but all three had those qualities, and that's why they won out in the face of innumerable discouragements.

The triumphs of this trio are especially gratifying to Americans, not only from sentimental reasons, but because they mark the first definite step toward the true internationalizing of grand opera. There never was any really good reason why Americans should have been left out in the cold, provided they had the talent. And now they're going to hold their own against imported talent.

And, we might add, please note that the pioneers were GIRLS. Do you get the point?

If a rich man can't get a seat in the Senate and a poor man can't get elected, perhaps the thing will be abolished.

"Little Bow Deep," said the violinist, as he drew his bow across the fiddle.

Smile: As nervous as a book agent in Boston.

Hair dressers say that bobbed hair is going out. Parents interviewed on the subject, say that it is not only going out, but refuses to come home at a reasonable time.

A Slight Break.
Hostess: "I want you all to make yourselves at home. I'm at home and I wish you all were."

Whenever the name "Lindy" is associated with anything, it is a go.

A man with whom I can't converse is Hiram Johnson Peeth. For when he talks, I always find He whistles through his teeth.

"Sensational things happen in America," says a critic. They do. A Chicago resident is reported to have died of old age.

It's all right to remember—that the early bird catches the worm but don't forget that the early bird goes to bed early.

It is better to work for the prevention of miseries, than to multiply places of refuge for the miserable.

"There goes the old rascal who swindled me out of $40,000."
"How did he do it?"
"He refused to let me marry his daughter."

A mother suffers greatest for the sins of her children.

Hazel—"It's a great surprise to see you in town again, Major. What are you doing here?"
Fatty—"Why I'm A. W. O. L."
Hazel—"What do you mean?"
Fatty—"After women or liquor."

If you live right what care you a rap whether hell is abolished?

The banker asked a man who was trying to borrow money: "How much have you in the way of immediate liquid assets?"

To which the customer cautiously replied, "About a case and a half."

Caller: "Won't you walk as far as the street car with me, Tommy?"
Age seven: "I can't."
Caller: "Why not?"
Age seven: "Cause we're gonna have dinner as soon as you go."

Lawyer—So you have only been married six weeks, yet seek a divorce. Upon what grounds?
Flapper—Inhuman cruelty. We were secretly married, and he actually makes me keep the secret.

WORMY CHERRIES BANE OF CANNERS

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 16.—"Wormy cherries are the bane of the cherry canner and a most serious plague of the cherry grower," said Professor G. W. Herrick, in an address before fruit growers at Farm and Home Week at Cornell University here today.

"If a housewife should open a can of cherries and find in it a white maggot she demands from her grocer the credit due on the worthless fruit. The grocer, in turn, complains to the wholesaler and the wholesaler to the canner, and the canner makes good, but refuses to take cherries of the grower the following year for fear of maggots. Thus it is that the burden of the whole trouble finally comes home to the grower."

"The cherry maggot comes from an egg laid by the cherry fruit fly. Each spring the fly usually appears during the first part of June and feeds by sucking up minute particles from the surfaces of the cherry leaves. This habit of the flies gives opportunity for poisoning them before they lay their eggs in the fruit."

Burrowing Maggots.
"After the flies have fed on the fruit for a week or so, they begin to thrust their tiny white eggs just under the skin of the cherry. Here the eggs hatch and the white maggots burrow through the fruit causing it eventually to decay."

"Treatment to control the maggot," said Professor Herrick, "consists in spraying the fruit during the first days of June as the Early Richmond variety begins to ripen and again ten to fourteen days later, with the following mixture: lime-sulphur 2½ gallons, arsenate of lead 2½ pounds, and enough water to make 100 gallons."

"Where dust is used, 90 pounds dust sulphur and 10 pounds arsenate of lead should be employed and about ten days should be allowed between the two applications."

HURLEY.

Hurley, Feb. 16.—Mr. Decker, a student of New Brunswick Theological Seminary, had charge of the service Sunday morning.

BEST LEARN TO LIVE WITH THE CORN MONSTER

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 16.—The problem of corn growers in this state is to learn to live with the corn monster, for there is no getting away from him," said Dr. E. P. Felt, entomologist of the New York State Museum at Albany, speaking today at Farm and Home Week at Cornell University here on the corn borer situation.

"Observations during a period of nine years in both the eastern and western infested areas conclusively establish the fact that injury is not uniform, because there are differences due to the type of corn grown, due to the time it is planted, and to methods of handling the crop. Commercial damage is decidedly less with field corn than with sweet corn, and a considerable degree of infestation is permissible in ensilage corn."

"These general conditions indicate the possibility of growing corn profitably in many sections of the state. We need now, more precise knowledge of the influence of various factors in controlling this pest. A most helpful factor in New York state is the practice of cutting corn close to the ground, and the general utilization of the stalks for feeding. The very serious damage in Ontario is undoubtedly closely related to the practices of harvesting the ears and allowing the stalks to remain in the field. It appears that stalks are favorite wintering places for large numbers of borers. Corn grown upon moist, rich soil or upon favorable loams may be seriously infested, and in such areas special precautions are amply justified.

Clean-up Encouraging.
The clean-up measures of last spring and those planned for certain areas this coming season are most encouraging, particularly as they have resulted from the desire of progressive growers to bring about conditions that will permit profitable corn growing. These are probably temporary, and will soon lead to voluntary and general adoption of good practices enforced by economic pressure.

"The spread of this insect into the great corn belt is almost certain to bring about material changes in handling the crop, and a consequent increase in prices, so that the ultimate result may be that it will be more profitable to grow corn in this state than heretofore."

Preparatory to the formal introduction early in March of Pierce-Arrow's new commercial speed unit, the first model from the production line departed today on a demonstration tour of the east. In charge of the trip was Harry Ward, who seventeen years ago drove the first Pierce-Arrow truck over a similar route and upon a similar mission. The factory now is engaged in actual production of the new vehicle, which will be known as the Fleet Arrow Wagon, and deliveries to distributors will begin within a few days. Exhibitions will be held during March in principal cities throughout the United States.

Very Handsome Dollar Bills
Were $2.75 each
Now Only $1.50 each

WORTH REMEMBERING WHEN BUYING FURNITURE

IF MONEY were sold in stores, would you buy a dollar bill for $1.50, simply because the storekeepers used to have it priced $2.75? Of course you wouldn't. Because you know that a dollar bill is worth no more than 81.

A suite of furniture may be greatly over priced at $150, even though it was reduced from $275. It is difficult to judge the value of a suite of furniture by the size of the reduction.

BUT at Stock & Cordts's you need not hesitate as to the value of the furniture. We mark our furniture at the lowest possible prices, based on the economies under which we operate our business.

COMPARE "sale" prices with Stock & Cordts's prices—and you will be amazingly surprised to find that not only are our prices as low but the furniture represents a standard of quality that is unquestionable.

Mannerchor Is 60 Years Young

Kingston's Oldest Singing Organization to Celebrate Sixtieth Birthday on Sunday, February 26, at Mannerchor Hall—Organized in 1868.

The Rondout Social Mannerchor, Kingston's oldest singing society, will celebrate its sixtieth anniversary with a birthday party at the rooms in Mannerchor Hall, Strand and Hasbrouck avenue, on Sunday evening, February 26, when a banquet will be served. Ten years ago, on Thursday evening, February 21, 1918, the Mannerchor celebrated its golden anniversary with a banquet and dance at the rooms.

A brief history of the organization may prove of interest. The facts on which the sketch is based were furnished by Joseph Block, the lower Broadway dry goods merchant, who has been an active member of the organization since its formation. Recent illness has prevented him from taking an active part in the work of the organization.

History of Mannerchor.

The Rondout Social Mannerchor was organized in Rondout on February 22, 1868, with the following charter members present at the meeting when an organization was effected: William Wolf, George F. Stephan, George Drautz, Valentine Thiele, Joseph Crafe, Joseph Block, J. M. Mayer, David Wolf, George Messinger, Frantz Gronemeyer, Charles Rommell, Henry Kukuk, John Derrenbacher and Joseph Carter.

Its First President.

David Wolf was the first president of the new organization and the other officers were: Vice president, Valentine Thiele; secretary, George F. Stephan; treasurer, J. M. Mayer, and librarian, Joseph Crafe. The society also elected Professor John Huber as musical director, which position he held until his death in May of 1884.

Since the death of Professor Huber, the society has had the services of Professor William H. Rieger, Professor Sutor, Professor Stiehl, Professor Steinfeld, and the present director, Professor Jacob Stumpf.

The chief object of organizing the society sixty years ago, which object has not been lost sight of, was to cultivate the art of singing, and especially the development of the male chorus. Another object was also to bring men interested in music into friendly and sociable intercourse, and during the past sixty years some of the most substantial and respected residents of the city have been actively identified with the organization.

Forty Years in One Hall.

The first rehearsals of the society were held in the Huber building on Broadway. In 1888, forty years ago, the society rented the hall in the McMillan building, Strand and Hasbrouck avenue, and in which they have since held their meetings.

Burned Out in 1888.

Early in 1895, Mannerchor Hall was burned. At the time its walls were adorned with numerous trophies of singing contests and in the hall was also a large collection of presents received from other societies and from members. The society also had a well-stocked library of music which was lost in the fire.

Won Prizes and Trophies.

In past years the Mannerchor chorus has taken part in many singing contests in other cities and have been awarded prizes and trophies. The society has also participated in many social events held by other similar organizations in other cities.

The members have been entertained in New York, Brooklyn, Newark, Newburgh, Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie, Hudson and Albany, to mention a few of the cities visited. The Mannerchor won the first prize for singing at the grand prize singing contest at Albany under the auspices of the Eintracht.

Sixtieth Year Held in 1888.

In 1888 the society held a grand saengerfest in this city which was attended by many noted singing organizations, and August of 1888 another grand saengerfest was held here by the Mannerchor.

Red Letter Day Remembered. One of the red letter days in the history of the organization was that in August of 1880, when the Mannerchor entertained as its guests over eight hundred people from New York, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Hudson and Albany. Entertainment for this large number was provided in Kingston and in addition a special excursion on the Ulster & Delaware railroad to Big Indian and Phoenicia was run and some who heard it will ever forget the combined singing of the big outdoor chorus at Phoenicia.

Celebrated 50th Birthday. Thursday evening, February 21, 1918, the Mannerchor celebrated its golden anniversary with a banquet at Mannerchor Hall and among the speakers were Mayor Palmer Canfield, Joseph Block, the only charter member of the organization, who was still an active member; Jacob Schanz, honorary president, and Peter Foss, secretary.

NEW YORK LEADS U.S. IN MANUFACTURING

Aggregate Value of All Goods Produced in One Year

Copyright 1928, by the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York.

New York is the nation's largest manufacturing state in the United States.

The U. S. Census Bureau has just finished collecting data which reveal that New York creates approximately 14 cents of each dollar's worth of goods turned out in the entire United States. Pennsylvania ranks next after New York with a proportion of 11 per cent, followed by Ohio 5 per cent, Illinois 4 per cent, Michigan 3 per cent, New Jersey 2 per cent, and Massachusetts 1 per cent. These seven states produce about 60 per cent of the manufactures of the United States. The remaining 40 per cent is divided between 41 states.

These proportions are derived from the report of the U. S. Census Bureau covering manufacturing in the United States in 1925. That is the latest year for which the Bureau has completed its investigations. The Bureau is now beginning a study of manufacturing during 1926. No investigation was made to cover operations during 1926 because the investigation requires more than a year to complete each time it is made.

In 1925 manufactured goods produced in New York were worth approximately $2,968,545,000 as against a total of $62,705,713,000 for all goods produced by all states. Pennsylvania turned out goods worth $6,901,762,000, Ohio $5,347,522,000, Illinois $5,321,828,000, Michigan $4,373,186,000, New Jersey $3,539,151,000, and Massachusetts $3,426,517,000.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

The prize afternoon DX station Wednesday was WSAI, which was very clear at 5 o'clock. At 5:15 the local snarling buzz began and was interrupted and resumed at intervals until after 5 o'clock. WGY had a misfortune with its wire to Hion and was unable to broadcast the band concert. With this exception WGY behaved well, much better than WJZ or WEA. Best DX stations were WLW, KDKA and WSAI and they conveyed the toothpaste, the coal and other advertising programs in first class style.

An hour of folk songs and spirituals of the negro race, with Harry Burleigh, foremost colored musician of the world, sinking them with orchestral, hand and choral accompaniment, will feature the Frigate program in the series of General Motors family parties on Monday evening, February 20. Burleigh is one of the outstanding leaders who has brought dignity and distinction to his race. For thirty-five years he has been the principal soloist of St. George's Episcopal Church in New York city, retained over that long period by a white congregation because of the beautiful quality of his baritone voice and his devotion to religious music.

With the announcement that Frederick Jagel, young tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, would sing in the Atwater Kent Hour, Sunday night, February 19, comes the comment that his opera singing had been a stepping stone to greater radio success. Sharing honors with Jagel in the concert will be Felix Salmond, the distinguished English cellist, who has broadcast under Atwater Kent auspices in previous years.

Another of the programs of light classical music which has featured its recent offerings at regular monthly intervals, will be given by the Eveready Hour this Tuesday evening (February 21) over WEA, and associated N. B. C. stations, beginning at 9 o'clock Eastern Standard time. Emma Hoyt, lyric soprano, and Hubert Ralidich, basso cantante of the Theatre Royal de la Monnaie of Brussels, will provide the feature part of the program.

CHOOSE PATTERN TO SUIT FIGURE

Selecting the right pattern requires just as much care and thought as designing the dress, says the New York state college of home economics at Ithaca, N. Y. The woman who wishes to wear becoming clothes should learn how to read a fashion book, how to study her figure, and to understand the lines which suit it. Her figure, rather than the fashion books, should be kept in mind.

In deciding on a pattern with suitable lines, it is well to remember that perpendicular lines tend to make the figure look tall and thin, and horizontal lines make it appear short and stout, the college points out. The lines may be in the material itself, in the style of the garment, or in the trimming.

A pattern may often be varied to suit the individual by changing the neckline, by using different types of collars, by raising or lowering the neck, or by introducing different types of trimming. In general, commercial patterns are bought by bust measure or hip measure. However, if the bust is large in proportion to the hip line, it is better to buy the pattern by the bust measure, as it is easier for most home dressmakers to make a pattern smaller than larger. For a woman with a full bust and narrow shoulders, a pattern should be selected which is small enough to fit the shoulders with extra fullness allowed for the bust.

Because most commercial patterns now include either a guide chart or a construction chart, the amateur seamstress need not go far astray. Before opening the pattern she should study the illustration of the garment and the chart showing the various pieces to see which pieces are to be used and how they go together. This will eliminate the risk of cutting pieces that may not be needed.

The first game was a nip and tuck and it proved of great interest to the fans. The Redeemers held the score at the half, 8-7. In the final period Port Ewen failed to hold their opponents. For was leading scorer for the Redeemers with 12 points while Van Etten did the best scoring for the losers with 8 points.

The second game was an easy victory for the Comforters. The Presbyterians could not get going in the first half. It was in the opening period that their opponents did most of their scoring. At half time the score stood 27-12 with the Comforters on top. Smith of the losers scored seven times from scrimmage and three times from the chalk line making a total of 17 points.

Trinity again dropped a game to Congregationals. The score at half time was 15-6 with Congregationals in front. Out of ten free tries from the foul line the Trinity boys only collected four. Krum, pivot man for the Congregationals, was leading scorer with 10 points.

TIERNY HOPES TO WIN BURMEYER EVENT

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—Joe Tierney of the New York A. C., former Holy Cross star, hopes to equal the feat of Ted Meredith by winning the Burmeyer 500, feature event at the New York A. C. indoor track games here next Monday night.

Meredith has been the only athlete to win the Burmeyer 500 twice in the ten years it has been in competition. Tierney was victor in 1916 and 1918. Tierney has one leg on the trophy as a result of winning the event in 1924 while competing for Holy Cross when he established the present world's record of 53 seconds for 500 yards.

The trophy becomes the permanent property of the athlete winning the event three times. Tierney will go to the post the favorite against four other well-known stars. Oliver Proudlock of the Newark A. C., present intercollegiate half mile champion, Fred Burns of the Boston A. A. and Gerald Swope of Dartmouth College.

RESULTS OF ARMY BOATS IN NEW YORK

Johnny Cooney and Al De Silva fought six fast rounds to a draw at the 212th Regiment Armory Wednesday night. Mickey Cooney, Johnny's brother, knocked out Abe Rosenberg in the fourth round of the semi-final. Artie Carr gained the decision over Ben Vauti and "Red" Edgerton got the verdict over Chick Gosselin in six round bouts.

Knockouts marked the other two bouts scheduled for six rounds. Frankie Danzole stopped Willie Jackson in the first and Jackie Hankoff stopped Enrique Salvado in the third.

BOATERS LOST TO HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY

The Boaters dropped a game to the Kingston High School Faculty quintet at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday afternoon, 45-27. The Boaters, whose poorwork was the big factor in overcoming the Boaters, found the Boats early in the contest and rolled up a 24-13 lead in the first half. Evans of the Faculty led the scoring held with 21 points. Boyce of the Boaters did the best scoring for his team with 11 points.

HUCKINS FAVORED TO MEAT SAMMY BAKER

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—Belief that Ace Hudkins will trounce Sammy Baker in their rubber match here tomorrow night was strengthened today when the Nebraska Wildcat became a 2 to 1 favorite in many quarters to carry off the verdict. Earlier in the week, Hudkins ruled an 8 to 5 choice.

The 10-round bout will decide the ultimate challenger for the welterweight crown now defended by Joe Dundee of Baltimore.

This will be the third battle between the pair. Baker won the first by a knockout while Ace evened the score with a decision verdict after ten fierce rounds.

Biggest January in Studebaker history

58% increase in actual retail deliveries over same month last year

See these four great Studebaker lines of fine cars and you will understand why

ACTUAL retail deliveries of Studebaker dealers for January, 1928, exceeded those of January, 1927, by 58 per cent. They were the largest in the history of the Corporation for that month, which so often sounds the sales keynote for the year.

The reason back of this sales record is the championship performance of Studebaker motor cars—demonstrated by a succession of spectacular feats of endurance and speed—culminating in Studebaker's unique position of holding all the highest endurance and speed records for fully equipped stock cars, regardless of power or price.

See the four great lines of Studebaker cars which are sweeping the country today. But do more than simply see them—ride in them and drive them! Then you will know that they embody the most advanced engineering of 1928 combined with Studebaker's 76-year-old traditions of quality.

Values in Four Price Fields

The New President Straight Eight—100-horsepower, 80-miles-an-hour, 131-inch wheelbase—imposing beauty and luxury—$1985 to $2450.

The Commander—the World Champion car which holds all the highest speed and endurance records for fully equipped stock cars, regardless of power or price. 25,000 miles in less than 23,000 consecutive minutes. Nothing else on earth or in the air ever traveled so far so fast. $1495 to $1695.

The New Dictator—champion of its price class, with a record of mile-a-minute speed sustained for 24 hours—a lot of car for the money, $1195 to $1295—a genuine, One-Price value.

The New American Edition of the Erskine Six—larger and more powerful—yet lower in price—$795 to $985—a car of genuinely high quality—40-miles-an-hour the day you buy it, 62-mile speed later. Many items of extra equipment, including shock absorbers.

All prices f. o. b. factory—stock absorbers standard equipment on all models.

THE PROUD COW

"MY NAME is Hooley Cow and I am a very rich cow," said Mrs. Hooley to her friends. "I have a lot of milk to give, and I am very proud of it."

"You are not so generous as we are. That is simply a family way of yours. But when you do give, you give handsomely. That is the way of the Jersey and Guernsey families."

"Now I hold the world's record for the amount of milk given—for the greatest amount of milk ever given. I do not mean that I, myself, hold this great record, but the Holstein family holds it."

"A Holstein cow has been known to give one hundred pounds of milk a day!"

"There is nothing selfish about that. Nothing small or stingy."

"Ah, yes, our family holds the world's record for generosity in milk giving."

"Well," said Miss Guernsey, "we're good-sized cows and we think that some cows should not think only of quantity but should think of richness and such important things."

"We're rather rich looking ourselves, splendid looking we've been told, and we want to give the kind of milk that is like ourselves."

"Sometimes we've been fed up and given some of the Jersey milk to make us fat," said one of the Holsteins, "for we are fed well when we're out prize winning; or are hoping to be prize-winning cows."

"We're fed well all the time, of course, too."

"I do believe that we hold the butterfat record, for we've given eight pounds of butter a day—apiece."

"Ah, they have a silo on the farm, and they thresh corn for us for the winter time."

"But we do our work."

"The Holstein family wore spotted black and white coats and Miss Jersey wore a lovely fawn-colored costume."

But they talked no more now for a while as it was milking time, and they all went and lined up so as to be all ready.

They felt quite satisfied with what they could do and in the talk they had had.

ing so important except perhaps cows themselves and good food for them to eat."

"Well," said Miss Jersey, "I do give milk. There is no mistake about that."

"Now the Guernsey Cows give good rich milk, too. They are much the same as we are. They belong to the same great family."

"Ah, yes," said Miss Guernsey, "that is true."

"The Jersey and the Guernsey give the rich milk. Now the Holstein ladies say that they prefer quantity to quality."

"True," said Madame Holstein, "I would rather give a lot of milk than a small amount of very rich milk such as the members of your family do."

"It is nice, of course, to give rich milk, but I think it is nicer to give lots of milk. Now, the way we do means that many, many more people can have milk than if we did as you all do."

"You are not so generous as we are. That is simply a family way of yours. But when you do give, you give handsomely. That is the way of the Jersey and Guernsey families."

TAKING A CHANCE

FOR several miles the automobile endeavored to pass but every effort proved impossible. The car ahead, keeping the middle of the road, blocked the way. In sheer desperation an attempt to pass was made but the shoulders of the road were loose and down went the car into the ditch. It was a costly risk. The automobile was damaged, but no loss to human life. A narrow escape!

The driver took a chance. In a calmer mood he might not have taken the risk. The hazards of speed play havoc with one's judgment. A damaged automobile can be easily repaired, but social and economic conditions resulting from mistaken judgment are not so easily adjusted. A foolhardy risk is likely to result in a disaster.

We are living in a Go-with-the-hour age. Judgment is frequently sacrificed to speed. In order to procure results quickly we take chances unwarranted by either wisdom or common sense. The average man is likely to trust too much to luck.

There is an important difference between taking a gambler's chance and an investor's calm precaution. If one can afford to lose, the former may be justified; but the latter is the wiser plan if the investment of either money, time or energy must needs declare a dividend.

Be sure that the "aim" on your gun is properly set before you fire. When convinced that you are right, without a reasonable doubt, then go ahead. The sacrifice of judgment to speed is folly.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

HOW TO FOLD BILLS

THERE is a superstition widespread through the country that in folding your money you should fold the bills lengthwise if you would prosper financially. If you fold them short across you will always be "hard up." The basis of this superstition is very easy to come at. It is purely sympathetic magic—like producing like, what is associated in thought is associated in fact. When you fold the bills lengthways the money remains at its greatest length—literally the "long green," not curtailed nor stunted. If you fold the bills across you diminish them in length—apparently cut them in two, curtail them. Folded in one way they represent money extending and folded in the other money cut off. There you have clearly the association of ideas and the association of ideas brings about, by sympathetic magic, the association of actual fact.

The superstition is a folklore primer one but is interesting as showing how the human mind, even without the aid of tradition, unconsciously evolves in terms of sympathetic magic—an example of the persistence of the subconscious primitive in man's mentality.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THE "DRAWING ROOM"

IN THIS day of servant troubles and the three-room suite with kitchenette we do not hear so much of the drawing room as we used to. However, where there is the luxury of a house we do still find, occasionally, a relic of the formal parlor style of room called the drawing room. In England, incidentally, in quite small "villas," as they call suburban houses, the term is still used, even though the room designated is what we would call a living room.

On its face the word "drawing room" gives not the slightest hint of its origin—yet how obvious once it is revealed! For it is merely a contraction for the original "withdrawing room," to which the ladies withdrew after dinner while the gentlemen sat over their wine!

Tides of the Earth

Because it is by no means rigid, our earth's crust rises and falls like the ocean's tide under the gravitational attraction of the moon and sun. There is no doubt that this occurs, says Dr. Walter D. Lambert of the United States coast and geodetic survey, though difficulties have so far prevented exact measurement.

Another thing that makes the crust of the earth heave and fall, says Doctor Lambert, is the pressure exerted upon it in spots by the rising tide of the ocean. Atlantic tides have caused an observed earth bulge at Williams Bay, Wis., 800 miles away, and it is thought probable that this influence girdles the earth.

Anniversary of P.T. Association

Federated Council Observe 31st Anniversary of Birth of National Congress—Formation and Early History of Council.

The Federated Council of Parent-Teacher Associations celebrated the thirty-first anniversary of the birth of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers of which the local P.T. A. is a branch, Wednesday evening in the high school auditorium.

The program opened with the singing of "America the Beautiful" by the assembled company. This was followed by three vocal solos, "Mother Machree", "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise" and Cadman's "Dawning", given most acceptably by Roscoe Paul of the high school faculty, accompanied by Miss Genevieve Mains.

Mrs. Arthur H. Russell gave a brief account of the two founders of the organization, Mrs. Theodore W. Birney, a native of Georgia, and wife of a prominent lawyer in Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, wife of California's leading senator, who was a great lover of children and endowed several kindergartens for poor children. These two women had vision of great things which might be accomplished by the organization of the mothers of our nation in the study of the needs, welfare and problems of the children. Accordingly they planned and called a conference of mothers to be held in Washington, D. C., on February 17, 1897. The response was beyond their greatest expectations and at this conference thirty-one years ago the National Congress of Mothers was born.

A number of prominent women from New York state attended this conference and caught the vision to such an extent that they assembled at the close of the session and voted to form a New York state branch. Among those present was little "Grandma Tuttle" as she was affectionately called by the state organization. Preliminary meetings were held at the home in New York city.

First New York Congress.
The first New York state Congress of Mothers was held in Syracuse. Mrs. Fannie Barnes being elected president and serving for one year. The second convention was held in Utica and Mrs. David O. Mearns of Albany was elected president. She served for seven consecutive years. The third was held in Albany while Theodore Roosevelt was governor. Governor Roosevelt's speech at this convention was broadcasted by The Associated Press and Mrs. Roosevelt gave a reception to the delegates at the Executive Mansion. Mrs. Mearns receiving with her. The enthusiasm from this convention caused other states to form branches and there are now associations in every state in the Union, the District of Columbia and the territory of Hawaii.

History of Federated Council.
All sang the P.T. A. song to the tune of "Solomon Levi." Mrs. Robert Liscomb accompanied the singing. Mrs. W. J. Whiston gave an account of the formation and early history of the Federated Council. On March 31, 1915, a meeting of the mothers of Kingston was called in the old Kingston Academy by Dr. M. J. Michael to consider the formation of Parent-Teacher Associations. The meeting was addressed by Mrs. W. A. Saltford of Hyde Park, who was later elected president of the New York State Council of Parents and Teachers. In April of 1915 associations were formed as follows: At No. 1 with Mrs. Arthur Sears as president; No. 2, with Mrs. Floyd Edinger, president; No. 4, Mrs. W. R. Anderson, president; No. 6, Mrs. Sarah Gallagher, president; No. 8, Mrs. R. E. Leighton, president; No. 7, Mrs. W.

J. Whiston, president; and No. 8, with Mrs. W. J. Cranston, president. Later an association was formed at No. 3 with Mrs. Arthur Parish, president, and at the high school with Mrs. Sarah Gallagher, president. In the fall of 1915, the officers of all the P.T. A.'s met and formed a central organization which they called the Federated Council, with Mrs. Sarah Gallagher as president.

When the constitution was drawn up it was voted to make the first presidents of the various P.T. A.'s charter members. Mrs. Whiston gave a brief sketch of the three who are still in the active work. Mrs. Sarah Gallagher, who is at present vice-president of the high school P.T. A.; Mrs. W. R. Anderson, secretary of the Poughkeepsie District of the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers and press chairman of the Federated Council, and Mrs. Whiston herself, who is treasurer of the Federated Council. She also told something of the work done by the council.

Decorated Birthday Cake.
A large and beautifully decorated birthday cake with 31 candles was the center attraction. The first candle was lighted by Dr. Myron J. Michael, who spoke of the reason for existence of the P.T. A.'s and what they are accomplishing and paid tribute to the two founders, Mrs. Birney and Mrs. Hearst. The three charter members present, Mrs. Gallagher, Mrs. W. R. Anderson and Mrs. Whiston, lighted the next three candles, the presidents and vice-presidents of the P.T. A.'s following, each reciting some fact or accomplishment of the National Organization, the entire ceremony telling the story of the birth of the National.

After singing "Auld Lang Syne," the company repaired to the gymnasium where both round and square dances were enjoyed. Pardee and Allen furnishing the music. Refreshments were served, the domestic science class of the high school preparing the punch and fancy cakes excepting the large three-tiered birthday cake of which everyone had a slice, which was made by a caterer. Everyone when departing pronounced the affair a very enjoyable occasion and hoped the council might give another party some time.

Legion Meeting Friday Night

The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Post, American Legion, will be held in the Memorial Building, 15 West O'Reilly street, Friday night at 8 o'clock. The January meeting of the Post was one of the largest ever held and tomorrow night's meeting is expected to exceed any heretofore held.

Two of the most important problems engaging the attention of the Legion are the raising of a $1,500 drum corps uniform fund and a $500 Boy Scout uniform fund. Plans will be made for a dinner in honor of National Commander Spafford when he visits Kingston Post on March 22. The various committees will report and plans for future action will be discussed. A peppy, interesting, instructive business session is assured. After the meeting, various members of the Mendelssohn Club, most of whom also belong to the Legion, will give a concert. Refreshments will be served by the ladies. All members of Kingston Post should attend this meeting and all World War veterans, whether Legionnaires or not, are cordially invited.

While the men meet in one room, the Ladies' Auxiliary meet in another. The wives, mothers and sisters of Legionnaires who have not yet joined the auxiliary are invited to do so Friday night. The dues are $2 per year.

PROGRAM RENDERED AT P.T. A. NO. 6 MEETING

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 6 held its February meeting on Tuesday afternoon with a large number of mothers and friends present.

The opening number of the program was a piano solo played by Jean Gregory. Miss Bailey's pupils entertained with two exercises:

"The Original Thirteen" and "The Life of Lincoln", and the following recitations: "The Little Red Stamp", John McGehee; "Washington", Jane Phinney; "At Least I'll Try", Lawrence Hall; "Lincoln's Character", Gertrude Hyatt; "Lincoln", Robert Read; "She Thought Lincoln Beautiful", Eleanor Freer; "The Wit of Lincoln", Ruth Koonz; "Tis Splendid to Live So Grandly", Doris Condon.

The association voted to donate five dollars to the Child Welfare Fund.

Mr. Miner stated that milk was being served each morning to forty-four underweight children.

Attendance banners were won by Rooms 5 and 8.

WARREN DISPLAY MAKES SPORTSMEN THINK OF ROD

"It won't be long now" is the motto in the window of C. A. Warren's Sporting Good. Store on Fair street and in the window is a display of fishing tackle which makes the sportsmen begin to think of fly, rod and reel and some quiet stream where the speckled beauties abound. With but six weeks more to the open season for trout fishermen will soon be getting the tackle in readiness for the open season. With but little snow in the mountains the prospects of an early season are good. However the prediction of the ground hog for a late spring may yet come true and there may still be plenty of snow to fill the streams with snow water.

Stone Ridge Grange Meeting.
On Monday evening, February 20, the Stone Ridge Grange will hold its regular meeting. A large class of candidates will be initiated in the first and second degrees, so a full attendance is expected to assist in the degree work. A report will be given of the New York State Grange meeting held last week at Poughkeepsie. Refreshments will be served by the Home Economics Committee.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 16 (P)—The stock market after a brief upturn at the opening today began to head downward, and various oil, motor, rubber and miscellaneous shares retreated into low ground for the year. The early strength was based on buoyant public utilities on the Senate's rejection of the Walsh proposal of a senatorial investigation of super power projects. When prices began to slip, however, in many groups, more attention began to be paid to less favorable trade reports, as well as to the monetary outlook.

The reported falling off in new buying of steel was an important factor, and traders again turned toward the statement on brokers' loans, which will be issued after the close of the market. There were indications that the credit strength was being drawn a little tighter, and that banks were scrutinizing more searchingly the collateral offered for loans.

Pools which had been successful recently in pushing up their favorites appeared to be backing away from offerings as a number of closely controlled issues showed recessions of 3 to 5 points. The general retreat was orderly, however, and confined to a point or so in most of the high grade industrials, such as U. S. Steel and General Motors.

A drop of 9 points was recorded by Midland Steel Products preferred and weakness involved some of the dividend paying railroads. Nickel Plate lost more than 3 points. Few of the earlier strong public utilities were able to retain their gains when the selling gathered force in other sections of the list.

Good Bulls Are Sent to Butcher With the Scrubs
It is unfortunate for the dairy industry that good bulls are sent to the butcher along with the mediocre and scrubs when their service is no longer needed in the herd. A careful estimate, says Dr. J. C. McDowell of the federal bureau of dairy industry, shows that really high-class dairy bulls are going to the butcher at the rate of one every eight minutes from daylight to dark every day in the year. How to stop this great slaughter and keep these bulls for a lifetime of service is a great problem in dairying.

A study of cow-testing association records shows which are the good bulls and which the inferior ones. But, unfortunately, by the time these records are available most of these bulls have been slaughtered. Doctor McDowell says that it is of little use to learn how good a bull was after he is dead, so he is urging that some system of exchange be started at once among owners of well-bred bulls in order that such animals may be kept until the daughters have demonstrated their sire's true value.

Minerals for Abortion Not Favored by Iowa
Infectious abortion is not stopped by the use of minerals in dairy rations. This conclusion has been reached at the Iowa State college as a result of experimental tests. This does not mean, however, that minerals are of no value.

Cows suffering from lack of minerals are benefited by additional minerals supplied in their feed. Abortions resulting from mineral deficiency are prevented when minerals are fed. There is a distinct difference in the two types. Anyone who attempts to cure the infectious types with minerals alone will be disappointed. Strict sanitation is the only sure treatment so far developed.

Dairy Notes
Pure milk is better than purified milk.
Always allow dairy cows free access to salt.
Building a good herd with scrubs is as hard as building a good house with refuse lumber.
Sor beans when fed to cows should be ground, otherwise most of them will pass through the cow undigested.
If cows leave the stalls leaves in the managers they are getting too much protein.

About the Folks
Attorney and Mrs. Chris J. Flanagan of 32 Orchard street are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter, Nancy, born at the City of Kingston Hospital.

Prof. Jacob Stampf, who was operated upon some time ago at the Kingston City Hospital, is improving at his home on Sterling street under the care of Dr. Fred Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Spoor and daughter, Doris, of Jersey City, returned home today after spending several days with Mrs. Spoor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duffin, of 23 Johnson avenue.

DAIRYNO SUCH THING AS GENTLE BULL

Now that dairy farming has come to be an important part of the agricultural industry of North Carolina and pure bred stock is being purchased in large numbers, it is time to give more attention to handling the lead side.

"In the first place, the dairy bull must be considered the sire of our future herd," says Dr. C. D. Grinnell, dairy investigator at State college. "If this animal is as good as he should be, he must be liberally fed, properly housed and well exercised. So many of our bulls are not fully grown out. In developing the young sires, we must aim to promote rapid growth with a large frame and this calls for good feed and handling."

But the young sire must be taught that he is to be under the control of his master. At an early age, it is advisable to insert a ring in his nose and train him to lead with a staff. This should begin when the animal is from nine to twelve months of age. Then as the animal matures, states Doctor Grinnell, feed him roughage of good quality, a liberal concentrate mixture and see that he gets plenty of exercise. Respect his strength enough to keep him under control at all times.

Nearly every week one hears of live stock growers being hurt by some bull which was considered harmless. Doctor Grinnell thinks there are few such animals. Especially is the dairy sire apt to be nervous and irritable, especially under circumstances new or strange. With the bringing in of many new bulls to build up the herd, the owner should always be prepared to handle his animal with firmness and caution. Early training is most important. Properly trained and well fed, the young bull may become a valuable herd sire that will build up production and add to the profits of the dairy farm.

Minerals for Abortion Not Favored by Iowa
Infectious abortion is not stopped by the use of minerals in dairy rations. This conclusion has been reached at the Iowa State college as a result of experimental tests. This does not mean, however, that minerals are of no value.

Cows suffering from lack of minerals are benefited by additional minerals supplied in their feed. Abortions resulting from mineral deficiency are prevented when minerals are fed. There is a distinct difference in the two types. Anyone who attempts to cure the infectious types with minerals alone will be disappointed. Strict sanitation is the only sure treatment so far developed.

Dairy Notes
Pure milk is better than purified milk.
Always allow dairy cows free access to salt.
Building a good herd with scrubs is as hard as building a good house with refuse lumber.
Sor beans when fed to cows should be ground, otherwise most of them will pass through the cow undigested.
If cows leave the stalls leaves in the managers they are getting too much protein.

Two Deputy Sheriffs Slain

Nine Days' Search Ends With Finding of Deputy Sheriffs Bodies in Woods. Covered with an Automobile Robe.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 16 (P)—Nine days' search for two deputy sheriffs, who disappeared while taking two youthful prisoners from LaFayette, Ind., to the state reformatory at Joliet, ended today in a woods near the village of Foster, Ind., where the bodies of the officers were found lying side by side covered with an automobile robe. Skulls of the two officers had been crushed in the back.

The bodies, fully clothed and with limbs carefully straightened, were found by three farmers walking through the woods.

The deputies, John P. Grove and Wallace McClure, left LaFayette, February 7 in an automobile in charge of John Burns and Samuel Baxter, the youths committed to the reformatory.

The automobile, with a bullet hole in the windshield, was found in the woods. An investigation led to reports that pistols and money had been smuggled to the youths before they started the trip with the deputies.

Several youths answering the general description of the escaped prisoners have been arrested in various sections of the country and later released when they were found not to be the ones wanted. Only a short time before the bodies of the deputies were found two youths held at St. Clairsville, Ohio, through comparison of fingerprints, were found to have no connection with the case, although first reports had indicated they were the missing prisoners.

When Chess Was Put Under Churchly Ban
As to how chess was introduced into western and central Europe little is really known, and still less about its advent into this country. Some say that chess was brought into Europe at the time of the Crusades, the theory being that Christian warriors learned to play it at Constantinople, but this has been disproved.

More probable it is that the Spaniards received the game from their Moslem conquerors, who had learned it from the Persians, who in their turn had been initiated into it by the Hindus, while the Indians acquired chess from the Egyptians.

It seems that chess was known in Italy before the first Crusade, for there is extant, says Colonel Whitton, in the Nineteenth Century, a curious letter from the cardinal archbishop of Ostia to Pope Alexander II, written about 1061, bearing on the game.

The cardinal had imposed a penance on a bishop whom he had found diverting himself with chess, and in his letter to the pope the cardinal quotes the language of reproach he had used to his erring subordinate: "Was it right, I say, and consistent with thy duties, to sport away thy evenings amidst the vanities of chess and defile the hand which offers up the body of the Lord, and the tongue which mediates between God and man, with the pollution of this sacrilegious game?"

Travel Always With Death as Companion
Bolivia is probably the most inaccessible country in the world. It can only be reached by crossing the Andes or by taking a long and difficult journey through the Argentine. Thus, although it is four times as large as Great Britain, its population is only one-quarter that of London.

It lies wholly in the tropical belt, but much of its surface consists of a lofty tableland running up to 12,000 feet, where the climate is intensely dry and cold, with considerable snow and fearful electric storms.

A track crosses this great plateau to the western seaboard, and along this trail travels a constant stream of mules and packers carrying rubber and other products of Bolivia to the coast. In many places the track is a mere shelf of rock with nothing between its edge and a drop of thousands of feet. In places the track rises 15,000 feet above sea level. The whole trail is lined with the bleached skeletons of pack animals, and the losses are enormous.

On this plateau, at a height of 12,000 feet, is the vast Lake Titicaca, almost as big as Lake Erie in Canada.

Great Roman Temple
The word "Pantheon" means a temple or a shrine dedicated to all the gods. It is specifically applied to a magnificent building erected at Rome by Agrippa in 28 B. C.

A union service will be held by the two Roundout Lutheran Churches, Trinity and the Church of the Redeemer, on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock to consider the work of the Lord's Day Alliance. While the Lutheran churches do not hold a separate view of the Sabbath and advocate a sensible Sabbath they are in favor of the campaign of education of the Alliance to induce people to be considerate of those who must work seven days out of seven. They believe that the Sabbath was made for man and for all men. The service will be held at the Church of the Redeemer.

London services will be held at the Church of the Redeemer every week on Thursday evening except next week, when a service will be held on Ash Wednesday.
